

Thankful for hands that build TC

Dear TC Family,

As I reflect on the work happening across TC, my appreciation doesn't just grow - it humbles me. This year began with challenges none of us could have anticipated, yet what I have witnessed from our admin, teachers, staff, and volunteers has been nothing short of extraordinary. I am overwhelmed by the dedication poured out day after day to ensure that this school year not only happened but flourished.

There is remarkable, high-level work being carried out by Kathy and her team. It was no small task to launch the school year with such steadiness and grace, and to continue serving our students with unwavering excellence. Our teachers give long, sacrificial days, investing not only in the academic growth of our students but also walking alongside them in their faith journey. And our coaches and extracurricular leaders? Their service begins when the campus grows quiet, shaping character, teamwork, and resilience long after the final bell.

Behind the scenes, our maintenance team works with a quiet faithfulness that often goes unseen. They prepare, repair, clean, and care for our spaces so that every student walks on a campus that is safe, welcoming, and ready to inspire learning.

This week, the work of our Gala Committee comes to fruition. After months of prayer, planning, and persistent effort, they will offer a night designed to bless TC in countless ways. And someone might ask: How can we call it a success before a single number is counted?

Because success at TC has never been measured by totals or tallies. Success is found in the heart, care, obedience, and excellence poured into the work itself.

What we do here is not and will never be defined by the world's standards. Our purpose is higher. Our aim is different. And when our steps remain aligned with the Lord - when His name is first, central, and lifted high - everything else will fall into place in His perfect timing.

I am deeply grateful and truly overwhelmed by every effort, every sacrifice, and every act of service that has shaped this year so far. TC is becoming, day by day, a school where students can be educated with excellence, disciplined with intention, and surrounded by a community grounded in Christ. And that is possible because of you.

Thank you for living out Colossians 3:17 with integrity and joy:

“And whatever you do, whether in word or deed, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him.”

In faith, family, and future,

Johanna Fischer
